The exhibition The Wonder of Learning is offered as a "democratic piazza" calling attention to the importance of education and schools as places for discussion and exchange.

In continuity with the previous exhibition, The Hundred Languages of Children, the new exhibition also aims to reconfirm the values that underlie the educational philosophy of the municipal infant-toddler centres and preschools of Reggio Emilia, and in particular to highlight the changes, innovations, and developments that have taken place.

The exhibition speaks to all those involved in education as well as to all members of the general public who believe that research on the processes of learning and education is of crucial importance for society.
